The Malaysian government has recently released a revised budget for the year 2023. This budget aimed at further strengthening the nation's economy and ensuring sustainable development. The budget focuses on three key areas, including industrial development, international trade and local and foreign investment which needs to remain intact in order to maintain the momentum of economic growth, sustain the supply chain and empower the development of Malaysia's human capital.

Among the highlights of the revised budget are increased allocations for healthcare and social welfare, targeted subsidies for small and medium-sized enterprises, and investment in infrastructure projects to stimulate economic growth. Overall, the revised budget reflects the government's commitment to ensuring a sustainable and inclusive recovery from the pandemic, while also promoting long-term economic development and social progress. What initiatives will the government implement next year to generate sufficient tax revenue and enhance the socio-economic wellbeing of Malaysians?

Will Budget 2023 which was tabled and then presented on 24th February 2023, speed up our path on becoming a high-income country in the medium term?
